

LUCIA LILIKOI

LUCIA LILIKOI

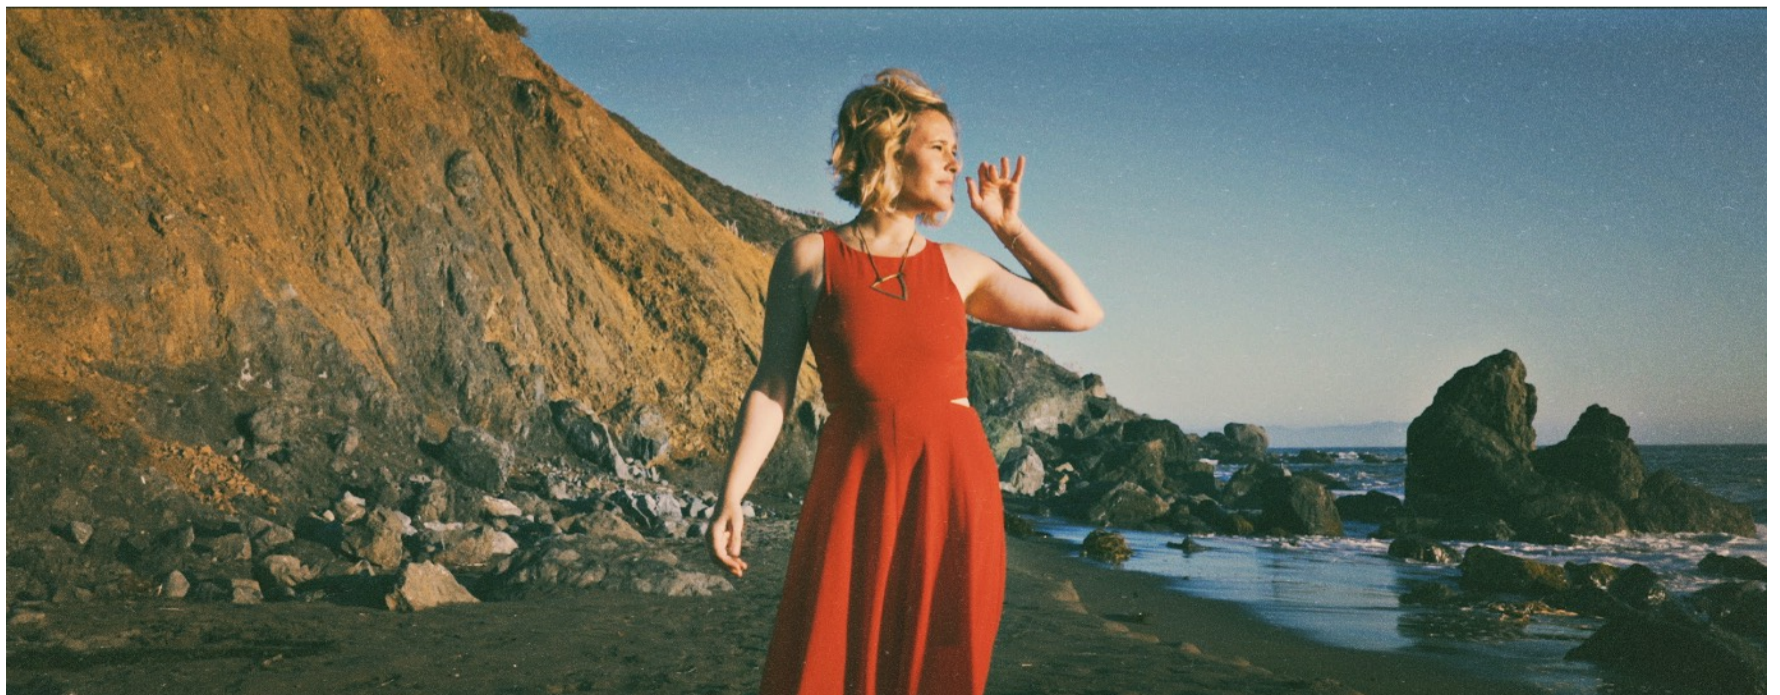

LUZ

On November 11th, 2021 Lucia Lilikoi released her fourth full-length album, “LUZ.” Across ten songs, Lucia reveals her interpretation of the element of light, offering a soothing balm after two tumultuous years, through the theme of belonging and alliance with nature. It was produced, engineered and mixed by Lilikoi, in her debut as producer/engineer. The album includes contributions from Garth Stevenson on double bass and Joey Maramba on electric bass, Manose and Bodhi on flute, Helen Newby on cello, Ben Leinbach on percussion, Chris Haugen on guitar, amongst others. Lucia is currently playing live shows along the California coast, and planning some European dates for the summer.

Lucía Lilikoi is a singer-songwriter, multi-instrumentalist, producer and sound-healer born in Sevilla, Spain, living in the San Francisco Bay Area. Her unmistakable soulful voice and lush arrangements come together in a genre she calls 'dream folk.' Over the years her music has led to studio and live collaborations with Grammy-winning producer Malcolm Burn (Bob Dylan, Jeff Buckley), Julie Wolf (Ani DiFranco, Sia), Grammy-nominated Jai Uttal, music troubadour Murray Kyle, Jonathan Richman (The Modern Lovers), Joey Maramba (Rickie Lee Jones, John Cale), Lorca Hart (Meklit, Freddie Hubbard), and Chris Haugen (Phil Lesh), amongst others.

Lilikoi’s songs have been featured alongside Jai Uttal, Rising Appalachia, Tina Malia, Deva Premal and Simrit. Her original music was featured on tv shows (“The L Word,”), and she’s scored music for documentary films (“Sold in America,’ 2009, and “The Future of Energy,’ 2013, featuring luminary Buddhist ecologist, Joanna Macy). Lucia has performed her original music at prestigious venues all over the world, including The House of Blues Hollywood, The Alcázar of Sevilla, Natural High Healing Festival in Finland, Esalen in Big Sur, and Gibson Guitar Studios in London, to name a few. She started her musical training learning classical piano at the Madrid Conservatory, she’s a Berklee College of Music alum, studied Sound Healing at the California Institute of Integral Studies (CIIS), and vocal improvisation under the wings of mentor Rhiannon (Bobby McFerrin.)

A contrast to the Neptunian Vessel (2016), LUZ embodies the elements of earth and fire. In Lucia’s words: “These songs are invocations; love poems to the earth and to the elements to call us home. They are songs of refuge, so we can remember our essence.”

“Lucía Lilikoi is able to generate with her music consciousness levels worthy of a true pagan priestess.” - Territorios Sevilla Festival.

“Angel Of Mine” has the haunting appeal of Johnny Cash’s “Hurt”. There’s an appropriate emptiness to it that transports one to the desert at dawn with a crackling fire and stars appearing in the sky. A true experience. The vocals and musical production of this song paired with the amazing mixing and mastering, most of which are done by Lucia, are excellent. And yes, this woman is not only a singer and songwriter, she’s her own instrumentalist and sound engineer. It’s true, take a second to let that process. I really hope her music reaches the masses.” - Adesha.

“Land Where I Belong is a lullaby for the planet” - Tom Gorton, “the Unknown Intl.”

“Lucia's music is pure heart nectar. She sings from the depths of her ancient soul and her voice transmits a rare beauty and refinement. Her music is not only crafted from decades of focused training and cultivation, but is most distinctly soul medicine.” - Ali Maya.

“Lucia’s voice is a blend of power and softness that is instantly captivating. Her rich and deeply textured productions perfectly compliment the dreamy realms that are evoked through her unique lyrics and style. Joining soothing words with stirring emotion, she successfully crafts a sound that drips down your ears, and swims into your heart.”- Murray Kyle.

"Lucia is an extraordinary artist of these turbulent times. She writes, sings and plays music that embraces the difficulties and speaks of the issues, while soothing us so we can keep faith and courage. What a blessing is this music! We need you Lucia, so set sail with your music."- Rhiannon.
